LOCAL MATTERS.

Canadian Annexation.—The annexation question continues to engage the attention of the Canadian press. The Toronto Globe is now the champion of crown allegiance and royalty. The Galt Reporter receives its daily attentions for its advocacy of annexation to the United States. The Reporter declares that in the event of war between Great Britain and the United States, the evacuation of Upper Canada is a foregone conclusion. The Globe indignantly denies this. It says:

Col. Jervois, whose report has been adopted by the British government, expressly makes provision for the defence of the Western Province. Whether or not we should be successful would depend upon the way in which Canadians turned out. If they were to manifest anything like the same spirit as the English people if invaded by the French, they would with the aid of Great Britain, repel the foe. But if they were to accept the teachings of our conservative contemporary, and enter upon the contest in a half-hearted spirit, that they would be beaten is beyond doubt. The Reporter, and other papers on its side in politics, have long been preaching that war with America is certain to ensue, and they have succeeded in producing a feeling of alarm fraught with the most deleterious consequences to trade. We have ever combated the idea, but seeing that it has taken some hold of the public mind, seeing also that it is not without its influence in England, we are anxious that Canada should be placed in the best possible condition for defence. Then, at any rate, we shall have the guarantee that the United States will not lightly enter upon so gigantic a contest as the attempt to conquer Canada would involve. We think this is by far the more favorable, the safer, truer course, than the faint-hearted, cowardly policy the Reporter would have Canadians adopt.

The conquest of Upper Canada would be a very easy matter in the event of war with Great Britain. The State of New York, with a far greater population, would undertake this task alone. The defences of Canada, that the Globe would have perfected would amount to but little unless they extended along the entire shore of the Province, for a thousand miles. In the event of war, resistance in Upper Canada would be useless and only cause a waste of blood and property for no good purpose whatever. Of the result of the contest no sane man could doubt. We hope that such a war will not come, but that in due time Canada will be permitted to become a part of the Great Republic in a peaceful way and with that cordiality that will ensure the most fraternal relations between the people.

Important to Those who have Fruit Trees and Bushes.—Those who are cultivating fruit and who have bushes and vines upon which berries grow, should attend to them at once and exterminate the insects and vermin that are destroying them. The Lyons Republican has some wholesome suggestions on this subject, which follow: The worms bid fair to again make a clean sweep of the bushes this year, the larvæ appearing by the wholesale. The eggs deposited by a small fly under the leaf are hatched into maggots after the manner meat and cheese/get maggots. These soon destroy the foliage of the bush, of course. The eggs are along the ridges of the leaves, are white, and may be readily seen; it is highly essential that the eggs are destroyed before developing life. Some persons claim that various trees are also suffering from the same cause—also strawberries. If it were not for the fact of boys shooting so many of the birds which destroy very many of these garden insects, the nuisance would be materially reduced. Now is the time to look to the fruit trees, and be certain whether they are infested by worms or not. If not attended to in time you will lose your fruit. The papers report the eggs of the Vapor Moth to be uncommonly numerous this year, and we do not doubt but that in neglected and unpruned orchards they will make sad havoc. The deposits will be found on the smaller twigs—limbs of one or two years' growth.—They are most surely removed by breaking the limb clear off, which will not injure the trees; or they may be crushed by the tap of a small hammer, or carefully scraped off or burned by torch. They will be found more generally upon the apple trees, but every kind of tree should be carefully examined, as in a few days more they will be beyond control.

Planting Memorial Trees.—The proposition which has found its way into the papers of planting trees to the memory of the late President is one which should command the attention of all who have an eye for beauty or usefulness. If every person able to do so (and there are few people who are not able,) would set out at least one tree, the effect would soon be seen both in city and country. To the citizens of this city, however, more than to others, we would recommend this work. By setting out shade trees a double work is accomplished. Every man then has his own monument to the memory of the President, and he has also something which will make his home pleasant and beautiful; something which will last him his life time with careful treatment, and every year repay more and more the time and trouble expended on it. Some of the most pleasant and most fashionable streets of this city are those where the trees on the sides almost touch their branches over the center, forming an arch, and the most beautiful and cheerful homes are those where shade trees are numerous and scattered about in good taste. Let every one set out a tree, and in after years they will not regret it; but will look with pride on the work of their hands.

Catholic Observance of the President's Proclamation.—President Johnson having issued his proclamation appointing Thursday, the first of June, as a day of humiliation and prayer, on account of the late horrible assassination of President Lincoln, the Most Rev. Archbishop Spaulding has issued a circular, in which he calls upon the Catholic clergy and laity of the archdiocese to respond promptly and unanimously to the call, and to enter heart and soul into the spirit of the day. Among the religious observances of the day, the Archbishop directs that badges of mourning be exhibited in front of all the churches, pastoral residences, convents, colleges, academies and asylums; the bells of all the churches are to be solemnly tolled for half an hour before the public service, and High Mass will be sung in all the parochial churches at the same hour as on Sundays. There are other minor orders in the circular, among which is one to the effect that where there is not a sufficient choir, the Litany of the Saints, with the prayers which follow, may be recited, instead of the Pauce and Miserrere.

Gen. Sheridan and Young America.—The Erie Despatch relates the following incident which occurred while Gen. Sheridan was in Erie a day or two since: "While the crowd was pressing forward to shake hands with General Sheridan at the depot in this city, the other night, the gallant soldier observed a little chunk of a boy making tremendous exertions to get to him by squeezing between ladies, crawling under gentlemens' legs, &c. The crowd was so dense that the little fellow did not make much progress, so the General stepped off the car into the crowd and making his way to the boy, held out the hand that had so often hurled back the rebel hordes, saying, with a happy smile, 'Come here, Young America.' The boy grappled the hand he had sought for, and seemed to fairly quiver with delight over the fact of Sheridan's conferring upon him such a marked distinction."

Public Schools Report.—We are indebted to Mr. Simmons, Superintendent, for the 22d annual report of the Public Schools of the city, a handsome pamphlet of 86 pages, printed at the Daily Union Job Office. This book contains the reports of the standing committees and officers of the Board, the regulations of the schools, names of text books used, the studies pursued, and all the information that is requisite to a correct understanding of the condition of the schools of the city at the close of the year on the first of April last. The exhibit, made is a very flattering one to the friends of the public schools.

Disreputable Houses in Buffalo.—The Courier says the Chief of Police has notified the keepers of disreputable houses in Buffalo that they must close their dens precisely at twelve o'clock, and if they fail to do so the Police are instructed to arrest the inmates. This is very kind of the Buffalo Police to permit this industrious class of citizens to pursue their avocation till midnight. It would have been only a little more generous to permit these people to keep open till daylight, which comes very early at this season of the year.

Gen. Sherman.—This hero of the war is expected to pass this way in a day or two on his way to his home in Ohio. If the people know when he is to arrive they will turn out en masse to greet him.

The Late Rev. S. S. Goss.

The Auburn Advertiser of last evening contains the following relating to the Rev. S. S. Goss, who came to his death in East Avenue on Thursday afternoon, so suddenly by accident:

The painful intelligence was received last evening of the death of the Rev. Simon S. Goss, of this city, while on his way from Rochester to Penfield. He was riding on the outside of the stage, when a wheel came off, and in the upsetting of the stage, he was caught under the vehicle, and died in an hour after the accident. He had left his home in the morning, and was intending to return the following day. He was a man very much beloved by his friends, and highly esteemed by all for his talents and virtues. His sudden and violent death excites great sympathy in this city, as it will in this portion of the State, where he was so well and favorably known.

He was born in Claremont, N. H., June 26, 1823, and had he lived a month longer would have been 42 years of age. His father died when he was 10 years of age, leaving four sons, all as yet in their minority, to the care of their dependent and widowed mother. She was a woman who joined uncommon urbanity of manner and sweetness of temper with strong faith in God, and by her good management lived to see her sons well settled and in commanding social positions. Simon was the youngest of the family.

He graduated at Union College in the year 1846, and completed his studies for the Christian Ministry in the Theological Seminary in this city in the year 1849. The same year he was married to Miss Mary Weaver of Penfield, N. Y., who survives him with three children. He was ordained the pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Meridian, in this county, February 19th, 1850, and continued in that relation for twelve years, a faithful and successful minister. He was compelled, by impaired health, to resign this, his only pastoral charge, carrying with him the confidence and love of that entire community.

In the fall of 1862 he was appointed Chaplain of our 75th regiment, then stationed near Fort Pickens. By his earnest, kind and conscientious labors in this position, he won the regard alike of officers and men. The duties of the place, however, proved too severe for his broken health, and he left the service the following spring. On his return he formed a business copartnership in this city with his brother, Albert H. Goss.

He cannot be said to have left his professional calling, for he was ever ready for every good work of piety, or philanthropy. He frequently was called upon for occasional services, here and in neighboring town, which he always rendered with cheerfulness and great acceptance. He was a true and faithful man in all his relations of life, and has, we doubt not, gone to a blessed reward.

The funeral services will be held in the Second Presbyterian church of this city, next Sabbath afternoon, commencing at 3 o'clock.

Life of Cicero.—Chas. Scribner & Co., New York, have just published in two elegant volumes, the Life of Marcus Tullius Cicero, by Wm. Forsyth, author of "Hortensius," "Napoleon at St. Helena," "History of Trial by Jury," etc., late Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge. This work has been produced by the American publishers in a style that cannot be excelled. It is printed in new type, on heavy tinted paper, richly bound and handsomely illustrated.

The history of Cicero, the great Roman orator and statesman, which the world has relied upon for a century, was written by Middleton—a good work for its time, but wanting in its adaptation to the present age. The study of Roman history and the observations made and conclusions arrived at in the past fifty years have given much light in which the distinguished men of Rome are now to be viewed. Hence the propriety of a new Life of Cicero. The author says the advanced state of scholarship, which has made the history and literature of Rome better understood than when Middleton wrote—to say nothing of his defects as a biographer—justifies the appearance of a new account of the great Roman. Middleton looks at Cicero as a politician and an orator, and does no enter into the details of his domestic life. These latter features are the most interesting, and will be new to the popular reader. This biography has been prepared to show Cicero as he was in private life amidst his family and friends. Why, even the Romans had families and friends and were not always in public. Yet who ever thinks of Cæsar, or Augustus, or Cicero, but as they stood on the throne in the Senate or the forum?

The perusal of this Life of Cicero affords great pleasure and satisfaction. The scholar who loves to dwell upon the illustrious men whose names are emblazoned on history's pages never to be erased, can take such a book as this and find the greatest pleasure in its perusal. It is a kind of biography that the world demands. It is hoped the success of this will induce the production of more, with the same laudable purpose. The Life of Cicero is a rare book to possess. It may be had at Steele and Avery's.

A Man in Distress Relieved by Himself.—The people about Buffalo street Canal Bridge was startled this a. m. by cries of distress. Hundreds ran to the spot and found a man suspended by his hands from the iron rods which form the chords of the trusses. He had attempted to get from a boat upon the bridge and had been left there, the boat passing from beneath. Finding that he could not draw himself up, he bawled loudly for help. The spectators could not reach him to afford assistance, but advised him to hold fast for a few minutes as a boat was approaching and he could drop upon its deck. He declared that he could not hold on and finally dropped into the water. Instead of drowning, as the spectators supposed that he would, he rose to the surface, swam to the shore and was drawn out unharmed. He had caused a great alarm for nothing. It is possible that he forgot at the moment that he could swim. That he was frightened while hanging to the bridge there is no doubt, and it is strange that he did not drown while under the influence of fear.

Going in to Invest.—There is a daily call at the First National Bank by those who have spare funds to invest in the seven-thirty government loan. The popularity of this loan is so universal and the desire to invest so general that the sales are large every day. Such opportunities for loaning money will not continue long, and those who have it should not neglect the present. The readiness manifested by capitalists to loan money to the government will have a tendency to reduce rates of interest, and it is by no means probable that any more securities as favorable as the seven-thirties will be offered in the future. The series now in the market will be sold at the places where they were first deposited. The First National Bank of Rochester was made one of the agencies and has still some of these bonds on hand. Those who would purchase should apply at once.—They can be had at this bank as low as at any agency in the United States, even at the head office of Jay Cooke, who has the charge of selling the securities.

Rev. Thomas Beecher on Temperance.—We see it stated that at a recent temperance meeting held in Elmira, Rev. T. K. Beecher, well known as a preacher and a brother of Henry Ward, took position in favor of the use of ale and wines as a prophylactic for temperance. He said that he had so taught from his pulpit, and that he should do it again—that he advised Messrs. Briggs & Bovier to rebuild their brewery in the interest of the temperance cause; that he had a barrel of good ale in his cellar; but there was scarcely a saloon in Elmira where a glass of good ale could be procured, as he had tried almost every one; and that if we formed a temperance organization on the basis of total abstinence, we should act contrary to science, and so contrary to God, and should consequently fail.

Wayne County Items.—The Lyons Republican affords the following items: The livery stable of James Curry, and a school house at Wolcott, were burned last Saturday night with a loss of $2,500. The residence of E. P. Howell at Newark, was entered on Sunday, while the family was at church, and robbed of silver ware, clothing, etc. A reward of $50 is offered for the thief, and $40 for the property stolen. Two boys named Cook and Mangold, at South Sodus, were wrestling on Tuesday, when Mangold became enraged and stabbed Cook, the knife entering the back just below the shoulder blade. The wound was not fatal. The store of Silas Tinklepaugh, at Sodus Point, was burned on Tuesday night with a loss of $2,800.

Immaculate Conception Church.—The ladies of this Church intend to hold a fair commencing on the 20th of June, and to one of the tables presided over by a couple of ladies has been given a very handsome buggy, valued at $250, which is now being made by the workmen of Mr. Cunningham's factory, who, in connection with Mr. Cunningham, donate a part of their time, and are making the buggy by overwork. It is to be disposed of by lottery, the tickets costing two dollars. The ladies wish to return their thanks to Mr. Cunningham, his workmen, and all others who have helped in this good work, which they fully appreciate.

Accident to a Child.—A little girl some two years of age had a limb broken yesterday in Market street by falling into the pit at the corner of Mill street where the flag stones were undermined by the flood and have not yet been replaced.

A Country Ride.

Mr. Editor:—To-day being warm and the sun shining bright it reminds me of a few pleasant hours which I spent riding through the valley of the Genesee a short time ago. It was just such a day as this. There was a clear blue sky, the sun poured down its rays as if to make up for what we had lost of its heat during the long, cold months of winter. The leaves were not out on the trees quite as much as now, but still I could see that spring was coming; the roads were not as dry and hard as now, but occasionally a dry and dusty spot would recall to mind the clouds of dust which are wont to fly in the sultry months of July and August. A few of the early spring birds were hopping from branch to branch of the stately old trees which marked the winding course of the sluggish stream, and sending forth their songs of praise and thankfulness. All nature was reviving from the cold influence of the winter, and all the creatures of earth seemed to feel a new life coursing through their veins. My course lay for miles across a perfectly level flat. Far in the distance I could see the belt of trees by the river's bank, and then close up to me again, would be the same stream, seeming to play about as a dog which is following the carriage of its master, now ahead, now behind; close to his side, and now far away over in the fields. These are grand old meadows, stretching away to the low belt of hills and timber, two or three miles away, perhaps. The lovely green carpet looks so inviting that it was almost impossible to resist the temptation to roll on it, and you almost envy the cattle which are quietly grazing in the fields, their enjoyment. And it is so quiet, so unlike the busy, heartless bustle of the town. There it seems all selfishness, no one appears to think of aught but his own selfish ends, but here who could help but think of the Maker of all this loveliness, and who could help shaking off the evil influences of a worldly life, and giving away to the soothing, quieting influence of nature. The city may do for some, give me the country, with its nature, unadorned by brick or marble, or the skillful work of man, and I will be content.

After crossing the flats a series of little hills are mounted, and then one of the most beautiful views in the country is to be had. The valley beneath, through which you can see the silver thread of the river winding hither and thither, the distant hills on the other side, and the little villages dotting the green. All this meets the eye at a glance, and one can not help an expression of admiration and delight at the beautiful panorama opened before him.

The ride home at twilight was one long to be remembered. The sun was just setting as I crossed the flats, and the tall trees cast strange shadows across the green sward, and as the last rays lighted up the western sky I could not forbear stopping my horse and gazing in wonder and admiration at the beauties which nature was unfolding. After the sun went down, the shadows deepened on the grass, the birds went to their nests, the croaking of the frogs was heard coming up from the river bank, and as I wended my way homeward I could not but think that such was our life; opening bright, we press on toward the heights, and then slowly descend again to the peaceful valley of old age, and soon pass away, and others rise again in our footprints and live as we lived and die as we died. Well, these rides are pleasant, and it is a great pleasure to think of them even now. N.

The National Fast Day—Pastoral from Bishop Timon.

Bishop Timon has issued the following pastoral letter to the clergy of his diocese:

From the Buffalo Catholic.

OFFICIAL.

Grateful to God for the religious spirit which breathes in the proclamation of the President of these United States, and in compliance with his recommendation, we hereby direct that on the 1st of June next each Pastor will have the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, as marked in the ordo, sung or said (as circumstances may permit), at the hour most convenient for the people; that the collects "Pro remissione peccatorum" and "Ad postulandam Charitatem" be added to the Mass, and that as a finale the "Litany of the Saints," with the psalm, verses and prayers, be sung or said.

By order of the Bishop.

Jos. Sorg, Secretary.

Worthy of Notice.—The attention of musical critics is invited to the splendid assortment of music and musical merchandise always to be found at City Music Store, 82 State-st; particularly to the splendid assortment of pianos and organs, of the best and oldest manufacturers in the country, of which Messrs. Mackie & Son have the exclusive sale for this vicinity, viz: Steinway & Sons, Hazleton Bros., and John B. Dunham's world renowned Grand and Square Pianos, which can be found and tested in every city of the Union. Mackie & Son have now replenished their stock and are prepared to fill all orders from dealers and the public, at lowest New York maker's prices. Also sole depot for Treat & Davis' Organs and Melodeons, and Wm. B. Tilton's patent Guitars and Violins.

Railroad Convention at Suspension Bridge.—There was an assemblage of prominent Railroad men at the Monteagle Hotel, Suspension Bridge, yesterday, in convention, to arrange matters pertaining to railroad business. The great lines were represented. Among the gentlemen present were the following:

Dean Richmond, H. W. Chittenden, J. Tillinghast, S. Drullard, N. Y. C.; Thos. Swinyard, W. Wallace, J. Charleton, G. W. R.; R. N. Rice, H. E. Sargent, A. Wallingford, Joseph Price, M. C. R R.; Chas. Hilton, Engineer N. Y. C.; M. Tolcott, Buffalo; Jas. Edwards, Albany.

The Monteagle is now doing a fine business and is a popular resort for pleasure seekers who go to Niagara.

Body Found.—The body of the man who fell from the deck of the steamer Ontario as she was coming into port Thursday night, was found last night about eight o'clock. Coroner Treat was telegraphed for, went down, but did not deem an inquest necessary. The young man, whose name was Thomas Scott, fell from the steamer when about 30 rods from the wharf, and being about half-past eight at night when he fell, it was quite dark. The Ontario came in about the time the body was found, and the captain took the body to Prescott, where the man resided. He was about 18 years old, and was well spoken of by his acquaintances.

Major Gould and the Fourth Artillery.—We notice in the complete list of regiments of the Army of the Potomac passing in review before the President and Lieutenant General, the 4th New York Heavy Artillery, Major Seward F. Gould, son of our townsman General Gould, commanding. This regiment has done most noble service, and its youthful commander, who entered it as a Lieutenant, has ably earned his way to his present position. We are pleased to learn that his corps commander has recommended him for the highest regimental brevet.

Jack Holliday at Buffalo.—The Buffalo papers state that but few people were at hand to see Holliday when he arrived yesterday morning because he got in so much sooner than was expected. Two of the papers say that he was much exhausted, but this does not agree with our reports. That he was a little tired is not strange, but that he was in a fainting condition we do not believe. The journey was a long one well calculated to test the strength or endurance of the man, but he performed it without great sacrifice.

Plowing Match.—The Livingston County Agricultural Society hold a plowing match on their grounds at Geneseo on Wednesday, June 7th. These matches are always very interesting to all engaged in farming and in the manufacture of plows and there will doubtless be a large attendance. On the bills announcing the match, we see no mention made of a premium for boys' plowing. We think they should offer a handsome prize to the best ploughman under twenty years of age.

City Hospital.—The entertainment by the ladies of the Eighth Ward Soldiers' Aid Society, in the new wing of the City Hospital, will be repeated this evening. Last evening was a great success, both in the number present and the performance. The room was densely crowded, and hundreds were unable to gain admittance. Doors open at seven; commence at eight o'clock.

Splendid Beef.—The Messrs. Fahy, proprietors of the Mumford street market, are busy to-day filling orders for choice beef. They have slaughtered some of their fat steers which we noticed, and are serving choice cuts to customers. Those who want a fine steak or roast for to-morrow will be sure to get it to-day at Fahy's market. Indeed they will have such every day for some time to come.

Sales of Real Estate.—Owen Gaffney has sold to Hiram Sibley the Gaffney Block, corner Main and St. Paul streets, for $33,350.

James H. Pool has sold to John Houghtalling his residence on Frank st. for $6,500.

From the Presbyterian.

Free from Debt.

The congregation of St. Peter's Church, Rochester, New York, connected with the Rochester City Presbytery, have subscribed the money, and just paid their "debt," amounting to about nine thousand dollars, and now hold the title to their church property free from incumbrance.

This is one of the most beautiful and pleasant church in Western New York. It was built ten or twelve years since by Upjohn & Son, of New York, and under their superintendence: and all subsequent improvements have been made under their direction. In addition to the usual furniture and equipments, each as a chapel, organ, church library, Sabbath-school library, &c., they have a chime of nine bells from the foundry of the Meneely's, of Troy.

During the past summer an apse has been constructed at the east end of the church, and the pulpit has been reconstructed to correspond with the architecture of the recess. Upon two of the three sides of the apse are tablets, containing the Lord's Prayer, the Ten Commandments, and the Apostles' Creed. On the center panel is the text, in gold and illuminated letters, "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." "Grace," "Peace." There are also upon this panel, upon the medallions in the arched ceiling, and in the stained-glass window at the apex of the roof of the apse, appropriate Christian symbols. Nearly five thousand dollars has been expended during the year in this and other improvements in and around the church. An addition of five hundred dollars has been made to the salary of the pastor, Rev. Dr. Yeomans, making it two thousand dollars, and a pleasant and convenient manse, free from rent.

But it is not in the pecuniary interests only or chiefly that the Great Head of the Church has vouchsafed prosperity to this congregation. Their late pastor, the Rev. John T. Coit, a man of rare excellence, of great purity and firm integrity of character, and whose name will ever be associated in the memories of this people with all that is lovely and of good report as a Christian gentleman, pastor and minister, after a brief sickness and a calm and triumphant death, went to his blessed rest in the month of January, 1863. During the succeeding months of the winter and spring there was an increased religious interest in this and other congregations in Rochester. A call was presented to the Rev. Mr., now Dr. E. D. Yeomans, of the New Brunswick Presbytery, which was accepted by him, and he assumed the duties of the parish on the 1st June following. Of his earnest, faithful, and most acceptable ministry, it is not fitting now to speak; but of the blessings that have attended his labors, thankful mention is due.

There have been added to the communion of this church, during the two years ending with this month, one hundred and fifteen persons—upon examination seventy-two, by certificate forty-six. Of these, thirty-three by examination, and ten by certificate, were received in 1863. Since that year thirty-four on examination, and thirty-three by certificate. Nineteen of this number were baptized. In these days, when the mind of the Church is so much interested in the subject of Christian unity, it is refreshing to notice the proofs that so often meet us, that on the great cardinal doctrines of our Christian faith there is, underlying the diversity of opinion on minor points, substantial unity. We find this illustrated in the fact that among those received from other churches, as stated above, were persons from the Baptist, Congregational, Church of England, Lutheran, Methodist Episcopal, Protestant Episcopal, Reformed Dutch, and Wesleyan communions.

In addition to the constant and diligent discharge of the ordinary duties of the parish, Dr. Yeomans during the first year of his ministry, carefully and thoroughly revised and re-arranged the Church Book. In the public worship the Apostles' Creed, the Lord's Prayer, and the Ten Commandments, are regularly used, the congregation uniting their voices with the minister in the two former, and in the responsive reading of the Psalms, as well as in the singing of the Hymns. Founded on these three formula and other prescriptions of our Directory, and the existing usage of our Church, with careful study of the scriptural and general Christian principles of worship, the order of divine service is at once simple and complete, and of manifest spiritual advantage, without restricting the freedom of Christian devotion. The order of the services, the Psalter or Book of Psalms arranged for responsive reading, and the Hymns for both public and social or private use, about five hundred in number, selected from the whole field of English hymnology, and arranged according to the requirements of the service, (with suitable tunes,) are printed in one volume, forming the "Book of Worship," and copies are supplied to each pew in the church. It is heartily used by the congregation, and the practical benefit of emphasizing the worship of the sanctuary in providing for the outward audible expression by the people of the emotions of their hearts, is abundantly proved.

Great Sale of Hotel Furniture and other Property.—The recent sale of Congress Hall property at Albany for the purpose of using the grounds for the new Capitol, involves the closing of the hotel at once. The proprietor, Mr. Mitchell, will sell the entire furniture and other stock in the concern valued at eighty thousand dollars. The furniture comprises every article used in a hotel, and much of it is costly and beautiful. Besides the furniture there is a large stock of choice liquors, omnibuses, carriages, horses, &c. This property will be sold at auction, commencing on the 7th of June, and continuing till all has been sold.—The schedule of property offered will be found in an advertisement in this paper.

The following handsome presents were given to the patrons of the Metropolitan Gift Book Store during the past week: Two watches, 4 silver-plated cake baskets, 5 silver-plated castors, 8 silver-plated card receivers, 2 opera glasses, 1 silver-plated butter dishes, 11 photograph albums, 3 ladies' furnished pocket companion, 4 gold lined salt castors, 13 silver cups, 22 do. napkin rings, 36 sets tea and table spoons, besides over 400 other articles of value. A handsome gift accompanies each purchase.

Another Arrival of Shawls, Silks and Dress Goods.—Messrs. Burke, Fitzsimons, Hone & Co., have received another large stock of Paisley shawls and desirable dress goods from auction. The Paisley shawls are of the finest qualities and choice coloring. Messrs. B. F. H. & Co., having a buyer constantly in the market are enabled to supply their customers at the lowest New York quotations.

Photographs.—A good likeness at a reasonable price is a great consideration. Real gems of the photographic art can be obtained at the beautiful rooms of D. E. Rice & Co., 27 Smith's Arcade, Buffalo street. Their Carte pictures are beautiful specimens of that favorite style of likeness.

The Trot.—There was another trot at Hall's Park yesterday. Chas. Skinner put in a horse against a St. Lawrence colt owned by Mr. Hall. The colt won in three straight heats. Time, 2,51¼, 2,49, 2,46¼.

Corinthian Hall.—Rev. Dr. Hosmer of Buffalo will officiate in Corinthian Hall to-morrow (Sunday.) The first collection to defray expenses will be taken in the morning.

Convention of Literary Societies.—Another convention of the representatives of the Literary Associations will be held at Chicago June 7th.

Throat Affections and Hoarseness.—All suffering from Irritation of the Throat and Hoarseness will be agreeably surprised at the almost immediate relief afforded by the use of "Brown's Bronchial Troches." These demulcent ingredients allay Pulmonary irritation, and after public speaking or singing, when the throat is wearied and weakened by too much exercise, their use will give renewed strength to the vocal organs.
Price 35 cents per box.

Cheap Dry Goods.—Messrs. Bier & Stern, the well-known dry goods dealers at No. 10 State street, are doing a large trade now in consequence of offering great inducements to customers. They are receiving daily from the auction sales in New York goods purchased at the low rates and they sell them at a small advance upon cost, both at wholesale and retail. They have on hand a very choice stock of dress goods, domestics, staple goods, cloths, cloakings, as well as fancy goods and Yankee notions. Everything that properly belongs to a complete dry goods house can be found at Bier & Stern's and all will be sold at as low rates as any house can possibly afford them. Dealers and consumers of such goods are invited to call and avail themselves of the liberal offers made by this firm. They will find it to their interest to do so. May 5dtf

IS YOUR LIVER OUT OF ORDER?
IT IS A DIFFICULT THING TO KEEP THE LIVER in good order in this changeable climate. It is sometimes too active, and sometimes too indolent. In either case a disordered system is sure to be the consequence. Your liver must act with regularity if you enjoy health; and to restore that regularity of action when lost, there is nothing so effective as Radway's Regulating Pills. A disorderly liver leads to quite a number of serious disorders. The jaundice, the rheumatism, the fever and ague, and many other bilious afflictions all accompany such a condition of things. Resort immediately to the use of Radway's Regulating Pills. They never fail to remove the cause of all such trouble.—They are compounded of the rarest medicants known to pharmacy, the very essence of which, and not their coarser substances, are employed by Dr. Radway.—Hence, his Regulating Pills have a peculiarly subtle power in searching out disease, and expelling it from the sphere of every embarrassed organ. They do not distress the delicate coats of the stomach, occasioning gripes, pains, tenesmus, and so on, by their irritating operation, as too many other pills do. They purge gently, regularly, and without straining. They leave no weakness behind them. They are pleasant to take, and cost but 25 cents a box—a quantity which may last you for six months, and will be found useful in many "of the ills that flesh is heir to," besides liver complaints. Your biliousness will vanish as soon as you take a dose or two. Your disordered liver will be restored to a proper sense of its duty. You will be a well man or woman. Sold by druggists. my15 eo17w
