SEDITIONARY TALK CASE ON TRIAL IN FEDERAL COURT

Max Machner, a German born American, was placed on trial today in Federal Court on an indictment charging him with having made alleged seditious remarks last July at Saranac Lake. He was placed on trial today in Federal Court. He was defended by C. A. Wright and F. A. Mohr. A preliminary motion by Attorney Mohr to have the indictment dismissed on the ground that the Espionage Act was unconstitutional, was denied by the court and Mr. Mohr took an exception.

While examining the jurors, Frank J. Clegg, assistant U. S. district attorney, asked the question: "Are any of you men Socialists?" Mr. Mohr took an exception to the question.

Attorney Mohr asked that one of the jurors who said that "if it should appear that the defendant is a Socialist, I might not be able to give him fair consideration," be excused by the court.

Judge Ray denied the request. The juror was later excused on peremptory challenge.

Gets a Day's Sentence.
Joseph Rooker of Oswego, who had previously pleaded guilty to furnishing liquor to a soldier at Fort Ontario, was sentenced by Judge Ray to serve one day in the Cayuga County Jail. Rooker's sons in Oswego failed to respond to a telegram notifying them that their father had been fined $25.

James E. Connetton of Johnstown was admitted to practice in the United States Court.

In the Machner case, the first witness called was Ernest J. Nelson, now with the U. S. Navy at Long Island. He was formerly a chauffeur for a wealthy woman who lived in New York and spent the summer at Saranac Lake. He testified that on July 29, at the Guide House at Saranac, Machner said: "This is a war for the rich people and the poor people should get together and refuse to fight."

The witness testified that Machner said "there is no justice in this country," that "Germany was justified in sinking U. S. hospital ships, because there were American sailors on board."

Mayor Mark I. Koon has received the following letter from his former clerk, Sergt. Stanley Barr, mess sergeant in Company M, under date of October 11:

Wire 23 Feet Deep.

"In crushing the Hindenburg line the boys accomplished a feat that the English had tried five times, failing in every attempt. In front of this position, there was barbed wire 35 yards deep in which tanks played a most important part, crushing it to the ground so that the infantry could pass. This little stunt has brought us wonderful praise from the British and it was through our efforts that made it possible for the four divisions to 'carry on.' You can easily see that we had some job when it takes four divisions to complete such a task.

"Some of the Auburn boys, most of whom you must have known, were killed in this action. Some others were wounded and while the company has only about 80 men left, yet the spirit is still 100 per cent.

"We have passed through the battle area where the dead were piled several deep. Huns who will never again impede or interfere in any way with the rights of free people again. Our losses on this occasion are small in comparison to the losses sustained by the Huns. We are about to move now and it will be necessary for me to close."

Another letter follows:
October 17, 1918

"Not having a chance to mail the enclosed letter until now I have decided to add a few more lines:
Still on the Move.

"We are still on the move and keeping pace with the ever forward movement. The boys went over the top again this morning and have Jerry on the run again. All day long prisoners have been passing through the town where we have our kitchen. At least 3,000 of which we know and the morrow will bring many more, I am sure.

"The morning was very foggy and helped to make the push a grand success, owing to the fact that they were unable to walk right up on Jerry's front line before he was aware of them, consequently his machine guns were unable to get in their usual work. Hundreds of them were captured without firing a single shot.

"We have Fritz only a short distance from the Belgian border and before many days we hope to see him far on the other side and well on his way toward the Rhine which will very soon spell his deserved defeat.

"As soon as we came out of the line, I started this letter to you but have had no chance to complete it. We expected a long rest while the regiment was being reorganized but nothing like that happened. After piercing the Hindenburg Line, in which we formed the storm or as sometimes is designated the 'shock troops,' we rested two days and since then have marched day and night in the direction of the Rhine. Much of this hiking was forced marches so you may easily see that our time was well spent.

"This morning we rolled out between 4 and 5 o'clock and after a hurried breakfast, hit the road and in its course passed through numerous French villages that have been in the hands of the Hun since early in the year of 1914. The people, poor as they were, passed out hot coffee to the men as they passed on. The day is rainy and cold. We have stopped by the wayside to cook our noon day meal, also the night meal. After this, we 'carry on' in support of other American divisions in an effort that will be successful in keeping Jerry ever on his way eastward.

"I am sending you a German gas mask taken from a machine gunner whose head I found in one place while the rest of his body had been blown to small bits. His machine gun was a brand new machine and had never fired a shot. Jerry tried very hard to make a stand here but they never had a chance as the Americans drove them too fast. You will also find two buttons which a Prussian Guard once wore and a piece of paper money, on pfennig, and a five pfennig piece, which by the way is made of iron. When I go up to the front with the ration tomorrow, I will try and get you a nice decorated German helmet, one decorated in the latest German style."

HOME BIG SUCCESS

The fifty-third annual reception and donation at The Home on Grant Avenue held yesterday was the finest success in many ways ever scored by the Board of Managers. To be sure the $1,500 asked for was not made up, but the managers are confident that the friends of the institution who have always taken pride in responding to the wants of the worthy residents there will see that the remaining $400 is made up. Money contributions to the amount of $1,155 were received, but there are several who have always responded with checks who have not yet been heard from. When these have given it is hoped that the full $1500 will be made up. The Board of Managers states that every dollar of this amount is needed.

It was a glorious November day and there was a continual stream of visitors between the hours of 3 and 6 in the afternoon. They were received by the committee in charge and made the usual inspection of the whole establishment. The 35 residents of The Home were in reception attire and joined in the general social enjoyment. The rooms were decorated with chrysanthemums donated by the Board of Managers under the presidency of Mrs. Frank E. Swift. The board also furnished tea and a light luncheon to all visitors.

Two sales tables were set out with canned goods, preserves and fancy articles contributed by patrons of The Home and this was one of the most successful sales ever held. Mrs. H. J. Knapp was chairman of the committee which provided this feature. Luncheon and tea was in charge of Miss Mary E. Smith.

An unusually generous response was made to the request for supplies of groceries, vegetables and other household supplies, despite the high cost of these. It was fully up to the best years of the past. As a social function it was a success, and in every other way also. The only lack was in the $400 to make up the sum required to carry on the work.

YOUNG BURNS WAS SHOT IN THE BACK, PARENTS HEAR

A cabled inquiry from Joseph Burns of No. 76 Clark Street regarding the seriousness of the wounds received by his son, Francis Burns, while in active service was replied by a Hun bullet, has brought the following reply from George B. Cooper, which states that young Burns is in the Beaufort War Hospital, Ward No. 12, at Fishponds, near Bristol, England:

"I received your cable on October 23, requesting that we cable further particulars as regards your son Francis Burns, and have cabled you today (October 28) as follows: "Hospital wounded. Danger over. Recovering slowly."

"When the first cable was sent you by my wife, Mrs. Cooper, she had been informed by your son that he had cabled from France that he was wounded and getting on fairly well. Evidently this cable was not received by you.

"He is now here in the hospital and appears to be doing nicely. Was wounded in the back, which might have been serious. But fortunately, the bullet missed his spine and kidneys. He has been operated upon. He is now able to get up part of the day and it is just a question of time when he will be all right again. As wounds of this nature heal rather slowly I expect he will be in the hospital for probably four or five weeks longer. He is visited three times a week and everything possible is done for his comfort. I do not think that you have cause for further anxiety and I regret very much that you had received no particulars when our first cable was sent you."

Holland will demobilize her army.
