

The Boston Store

Saturday and Monday Bargains

Domestic Dept. Specials

- 60 inch Satin Table Damask, extra heavy, nice assortment, neat designs, per yd 39c
- 3x4 size turkey red fringed Table cloth. A big bargain at 65c
- 25c linen hemstitched Tray Cloth for 17c
- Table Napkins, good quality, good size, good patterns, per dozen 89c
- Honey Comb Bed Spread, full size, regular $1.25 quality 89c
- All linen hemmed huck Towels at 40c
- One-half bale crash Toweling, per yard 4c
- Men's all linen hemstitched Handkerchiefs at 10c
- 1 case ladies' fine combed Maco yarn Hose, strictly fast black. Special at 15c
- One lot ladies' fine quality, black Hose, double sole and heel. Special at 10c
- Two cases children's fine ribbed Hose, double knee. Special at 10c
- Fifty dozen children's lace trimmed Pants, extra quality. Special at 12c
- One lot ladies' fine Swiss Vests, sleeveless or short sleeves. Special at 9c
- One lot printed warp, all silk Ribbon, 4 inches wide. Special per yard 10c
- One lot Chemisettes with cuffs, 25c quality. Special per set 10c
- One lot hand-made Stock Collars in linen, baby Irish and Point Venise lace. Special 18c
- One lot children's wash Tam O'Shanter's. Special 17c
- Two special lots children's Straw Sailor Hats 17 & 23c
- One lot children's straw, continental, sailor and baby Hats. Special at 46c
- Special prices on ladies' Trimmed Hats.

Wm. B. Hislop, & Company,
91-93
Genesee St.

QUESTS AT BANQUET.

Many Coming from Out of Town to High School Reunion in Old Home Week.

The students of the High school class of 1900 held a meeting in the west room this morning at the close of school and made further arrangements for the Old Home week parade.

Prof. Bartlett met the junior class this noon in the assembly room. Prof. Lee gave his second year students a physics test this afternoon.

The baseball game scheduled for last Saturday with St. John's at Manlius, was cancelled.

Below is given a list of guests from out of town who will be present at the High school banquet:

Judge Warren Higley, New York city. Former Superintendent and Mrs. B. B. Snow, Rochester.

William P. Thompson, former principal of High school, Fayetteville.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Moditt, New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Reilly, New York city.

Mr. Frank Hoxie, Union Springs.

Miss Mary A. Priest, Canandaigua.

Mr. and Mrs. Erastus William Osborne, New York city.

Mrs. Sarah Laird Currie, Willard.

Mrs. Law Brooks Hewson, Syracuse.

Mrs. Augusta Ohlbeiser Rauber, Rochester.

Mrs. Ellie Lynch Bulky, Grotton.

Mrs. Jennie Owen Stronhauer, Kelloggsville.

Mr. Edwin Hall Pierce, Holyoke, Mass.

Mr. Charles G. Miller, Genoa.

Miss Lelia G. Carpenter, Boston.

Mr. William A. Aiken, Morrisville.

Mrs. Myrna Dady Wortman, Syracuse.

Mrs. Edna Costa Haven, Palchogue.

Mrs. Frances McGarr Pfeiffer, Buffalo.

Mrs. Rose Montgomery Wilson, Genoa.

Mrs. Mertie Russell McQuivey, Bridport.

Mrs. Herminie Storke Holmes, New York city.

Mr. Clayton G. Maybie, Nunda.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Sheldon, Jr., Ithaca.

Mrs. Helen Mulcahy Couron, Syracuse.

Mrs. Helen Ross Jorris, Scipioville.

Mr. George C. Embury, Russellville, Ky.

Mrs. Theresa Stupp Hannum, Syracuse.

Mrs. Edith Wilcox Reddy, New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. J. Hammond, Bainbridge.

Mr. Frank O. Cheney, Seneca Falls.

Mr. Arthur Cowell, Pittsburg, Pa.

Miss Helen Stahlberger, Plainfield, N. J.

Rev. James Clark, Canandaigua.

Rev. Edward J. Byrne, Rochester.

Mr. Arthur L. Terwilliger, Hartford.

Mr. H. Bert Foote, Pittsburg.

Mrs. Millicent Robinson Lyle, Youngstown.

Mr. Silas Taber, Moravia.

Mr. Earl D. Crocker, Senett.

Miss Katherine Quick, Danaville.

Mr. Thomas J. Mansfield, Cayuga.

Mr. Delvin La May, Buffalo.

Miss Sarah J. Mills, Senett.

Miss Maud A. Hopkins, Owaseo.

Mr. Fred Barnes, Syracuse.

Mr. John Lee Hopkins, Owaseo.

Miss Effie M. Webster, Senett.

Mrs. Anna McGarr Flood, Ridgefield, Conn.

Surrogate's Court.

Letters of administration of the estate of Julia Seal were issued in Surrogate's court today to Christopher F. Seal, who gave a bond in the sum of $2000. Decedent left personal property valued at $100 and real estate of the value of $2,000.

Letters of administration of the estate of Charles L. Tutill of Niles were issued to Mary Tutill and Julia E. Kilbim, who gave a bond of $6,500. The estate consists of personal property valued at $3,250 and real estate valued at $1,750.

Letters of guardianship of Frances F. Wright and Emma Grace Wright were issued to Susan M. Wright who gave a bond in the sum of $700. Each infant is entitled to a one-third interest in a legacy of $1,000 from a relative in Denver.

Petition for a judicial settlement of their accounts as administrators of the estate of Dorr Shepard of Aurelius was filed by Julia Shepard and Arthur D. Shepard and citation was issued to June 14. The administrators charge themselves with $7,700 and credit themselves with $8,942.76, leaving a balance on hand of $760.24.

Death of George W. Moore.

George W. Moore, who has resided in Auburn the most of his lifetime died at the City hospital on Saturday, typhoid fever causing death. Mr. Moore was a soldier in the rebellion, enrolled August 7 at Auburn to serve three years, mustered in as corporal Co. 6, August 20 1862; promoted to sergeant later and as first sergeant March 23, 1863; wounded in action May 5, 1864 at the battle of the wilderness, mustered in as second lieutenant Co. I, August 28, 1864, as first sergeant Co. D December 8, 1864, discharged May 19, 1865, in the 111th New York volunteers. He was in the battle of Gettysburg and acted as captain after his superior was disabled and was afterwards himself wounded. For two or three years past he had not been in active pursuit, but for several years was in charge of the coal yards of Thomas H. Garrett. He was a man of retiring disposition, faithful to his duties as a soldier and citizen alike, a careful methodical business-man, and highly respected by those who knew him best.

Funeral services were held at the Tallman undertaking establishment Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Rev. A. S. Yanis officiating. The burial was in Fort Hill. The bearers were Thomas H. Garrett, Thomas A. McCrea, Wm. H. Jackson, Wm. A. White, Albert H. Clark and Willis Hoskins.

Better Cheese and Eggs

BUTTER—Steady, receipts 7,071. Market price extra creamery 19c to 19 1/2. Official price creamery, common to extra, 14 to 15.

EGGS—Regular common to extra 12 to 13. Creamery, extra, 14 to 15. Best 16 to 17. Dozen to 18 to 19. Do small best 19 1/2. Do extra best 20 to 21. Interiors $10 1/2. Skim milk to best, 3 to 6c. Cream to best, 12 to 14c. State, Pennsylvania and nearby fancy do. selected white 22. Do choice 20 to 21. Do mixed extra 19 1/2 to 20. Western best 17. Do second 15 to 16. Kentucky 13 to 14. POTATOES—Early. Bermuda per bushel $1.25 to $1.50. Northern $1.50 to $2.00. Maine per bag $1.25 to $1.50. New York per bushel $1.25 to $1.50. European $1.25 to $1.50. Jersey $1.25 to $1.50 per bushel. CABBAGES—Steady. 7c and 8c per crate.

Good Roads in Sight.

The entering wedge for state roads in Cayuga county was inserted today in the advertisement from the state engineer's department for bids for constructing good roads in Owaseo and Fleming. The Owaseo improvement is to begin at Melrose and go south 2.100 miles. The Fleming road is to begin at the city limits in Moravia street, near the burned road house and go south and east 3.168 miles. The work cannot be rushed any too rapidly for those who are obliged to drive over these "rocky roads to Dublin."

LOST OR STOLEN—From Glenwood Beach, a small black brindle bull dog, with cropped and collar on neck with address, G. J. Lockwood, 28 Franklin street, Buffalo, N. Y. Finder or taker please bring to 28 Franklin street, Buffalo, N. Y. and receive reward.

AUBURN SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS.

Their Part in Program of State Convention at Gloversville—Local Delegates.

State Sunday School convention will convene at Gloversville tomorrow and will remain in session for three days. Cayuga county is in the seventh district with Seneca, Wayne, Monroe, Livingston, Ontario, Yates and Steuben, with Thomas Dransfield as chairman and these vice presidents: Dr O H Babbitt, Auburn; Rev W J Reid, Rochester; W G Lightfoot, Canandaigua; S W Treat, Weedsport; Thomas Dransfield, Rochester; T H King, Trumansburg.

Dr O H Babbitt of this city is a former president of the association (1904) and is chairman of the program committee. His picture is printed in the official program. The convention will be held in Rev Dr A W Bourne's old church and he is slated for an address at the first session on "The Book We Teach." Rev A A McKay of this city is also to speak, at the third session, on "How Can the Pastor Use the Sunday School in Church Administration." Rev Frank S Squyer, an old Auburn boy is to speak upon "How Can the Organized Bible Classes Help the Pastor." Rev Dr Bourne of this city is also to discuss "Christian Decision." Rev Dr Maynard, a former Auburn pastor of a past generation is to give an address on "Spiritual Power in the Sunday School Teacher."

Among the Auburn delegates who will attend are Dr O H Babbitt, the Rev Dr A W Bourne, the Rev A A McKay, the Rev J C Nichols, A P Hemmans, Albin Foster, E J Filkins, C C Avery, Mrs E Gale, Mrs Cone, Mrs A Y Bowen, Miss Margaret Walker, Miss Flora Palmer.

Letters of administration of the estate of Julia Seal were issued in Surrogate's court today to Christopher F. Seal, who gave a bond in the sum of $2000. Decedent left personal property valued at $100 and real estate of the value of $2,000.

Letters of administration of the estate of Charles L. Tutill of Niles were issued to Mary Tutill and Julia E. Kilbim, who gave a bond of $6,500. The estate consists of personal property valued at $3,250 and real estate valued at $1,750.

Letters of guardianship of Frances F. Wright and Emma Grace Wright were issued to Susan M. Wright who gave a bond in the sum of $700. Each infant is entitled to a one-third interest in a legacy of $1,000 from a relative in Denver.

Petition for a judicial settlement of their accounts as administrators of the estate of Dorr Shepard of Aurelius was filed by Julia Shepard and Arthur D. Shepard and citation was issued to June 14. The administrators charge themselves with $7,700 and credit themselves with $8,942.76, leaving a balance on hand of $760.24.

Country Club's Open House.

President George Underwood of the Country club has notified the general committee on Old Home week that the Country club will extend the privileges of their beautiful clubhouse to all out of town guests in the city during Old Home week. Admission will necessarily be by card but all non-residents may obtain cards by applying to Frank W Richardson, chairman of the reception committee. The club cheerfully invites all visiting guests in the city to visit the club house during the week. Afternoon tea will be served on Wednesday, June 27.

5c Cigars

Portuonides, 37c, Quattily, Little Bobbie—Revall, Adad, Capadura, El Toro, Ows, Cincos, and a large assortment of new 5c. smokes at 7 for 25c. Sugar Drug Store.

These Chilly Evenings

Make a Spring Overcoat a Necessity

Our new varsity style in the fashionable "Oyster Gray" shade, is proving itself a great favorite. Good for now and for the later season when cool nights come along and you need an extra outer garment. They're

MOSHER, GRISWOLD & CO.'S

Own make, which explains the style, finish and fitting quality.

You'll like one if you will try it on.

Varsity style $15.

Spring Overcoats from $10 to $30.

MOSHER, GRISWOLD & CO.

87 and 89 Genesee St.

AUBURN HONOR STUDENTS.

Achievements of Three High School Graduates at Hamilton.

Three Auburn boys who will be graduated in the class of 1906 from Hamilton College, have taken high honors during their college course and The Hamiltonian, the year book which is issued by the class of 1907, contains a full account of what these Auburnians have done during their four years' course. The successful Auburnians are Alex. M. Drummond, Harold L. Ferris and William T. Purdy and their records as they appear in the book are as follows: Alexander M. Drummond, D. K. E., Pentagon; D. T. club; Fayerweather entrance scholarship; manager class football; manager class basketball; freshman representative advisory board; assistant manager track athletics in second year and manager of the same in his third year; interscholastic committee second and third years; interscholastic manager fourth year; N. Y. S. L. A. U. third year; assistant manager gym show fourth year; member of the staff of Hamilton Life first and second years; athletic editor third year and editor in chief the fourth year; associate editor of Hamilton Literary Magazine during fourth year; literary editor of 1906 Hamiltonian; interclass debate fourth year; intercollegiate debate fourth year; glee club fourth year; press club; chess club third and fourth years; Junior Whist club, English literature club, fourth year; McKinney Prize Debate; Toastmaster Senior Banquet.

Hotel Lockwood, Ferris (Ch. P.)—Class track team, first, second, third and fourth years; class baseball team first and second years; class football team, first and second years; college golf team; varsity baseball team during fourth year and captain of the team this year and last; varsity track team during third and fourth years; junior whist club and English literature club.

William Thomas Purdy, D. K. E., Pentagon; Fayerweather entrance prize scholarship; class track team, first and second years; captain class baseball team second year; sophomore prize speaker; sophomore prize essay, mensian; college organized freshmen and senior years; college choir second and third years; glee club, throughout four years and leader fourth year; mandolin club throughout four years and leader fourth year; college quartette fourth year; assistant manager tennis team third year and manager the fourth year; associate editor Hamilton Literary Magazine third year and fourth year business manager; class debate third and fourth years; intercollegiate debate team fourth year; McKinney Prize debates; Clark prize speaker; D. T. club; English literature club and class secretary, second and third years.

TIED OF LIFE.

Suicide in Syracuse Left Envelope for Sister in Auburn.

Having tired of life, J. E. Myset of Shortsville, put a period to his existence on Saturday night or Sunday morning, at his boarding house, No. 205 North West street, Syracuse. His body was not discovered until 5:30 o'clock, yesterday afternoon. He had enclosed his keys in an envelope which was addressed to his sister, Mrs. Henry Randall, Seymour street, Auburn, N. Y. The body was identified by the name on a tag attached to the key ring.

Besides the envelope containing the keys there was on a stand near the bed a spoon and glass and a box containing a powder which resembled rough on rats. There were evidences that he had taken a large dose of the poison and that it had caused his death.

Little was known of the man at the boarding house. He was employed in a carriage factory in Syracuse but had never told where. He was known as Mr. Myset, but had never told anything concerning himself during the eight months he had boarded there. He was between 45 and 50 years of age.

It was said last night that Myset had gone to his room some time during the night and that when his room was entered last yesterday afternoon he was found dead in bed. No reason was known there for the suicide.

Coroner Mathews was notified of the tragedy and gave Meagher & Cody police and a coroner's jury to the morgue. Later the undertakers tried to communicate with the woman to whom the keys were addressed, but could find no one of that name residing in Seymour street at Auburn. The Auburn police were notified and located Mrs. Randall at No 183 Seymour street. She said that Myset was her brother and that she would go to Syracuse this morning. She could give no reason for the suicide.

The Souvenir.

The people of Marinette, Wis., where quite a number of Auburnians moved with the A W Stevens plant, are very much interested in Auburn, evidently. They sent to Secretary Adams this morning an express order for seven copies of the official souvenir when it is issued. It will be out by the 15th of June. The book is three times the size of any other published before and has no advertisements in it. It contains over a hundred halftones and is the handsomest book of the kind ever published in Auburn. The book will do Auburn a lot of good irrespective of the Old Home week features connected with it.

It contains a number of historical halftones and many of the leading industries, beautiful buildings, and a few of the citizens of Auburn of national reputation. Also the officers of the Business Men's association and the committee on Old Home week with the official program. There are also about 300 business men in the classified list of business houses of Auburn. It will be one of the best books of any kind the ADVERTISER press has ever turned out.

The National Cigar Stand

At the Sugar Drug Store can furnish you the best smokes at the lowest prices of any stand in the city. Mogul cigars, 7 for 25c. Shinai 12c. 5c. cigars, 12 for 25c. 10c. cigars 2 for 15c. Little Havana cigars at 5c. and 10c. per package. Imported and domestic cigars at reduced prices. Sugar Drug Store.

A ZULU BEAU BRUMMEL.

A Type of the People England is Trying to Control in Africa.

The Zulus, who are now giving the British trouble in South Africa, are noted as warriors, and they are as strong as they are brave. Zululand is a part of the South African colony of Natal, and it is in this part of the dark continent that the battles with the rebellious natives have taken place. Not all the Zulus are in insurrection, however. Many are loyal to the British authorities, and among these education and civilization have progressed to a considerable extent. Young men of the Zulu race have graduated from British and American colleges, and one, Pixley Ka Isaka Seme, is now a student at Columbia university, where he recently won a prize for oratory. In an essay on "The Regeneration of Africa" he declared his belief that British control of the government was best for the progress of his race.

A ZULU BEAU IN GALA ATTIRE.

The wilder and more ignorant of the Zulus are, like most savage or semi-savage peoples, of a childlike simplicity of character in many respects. The young men are fond of displaying themselves in garb borrowed from civilization, but they do not always wear their attire in the fashion customary among whites. The accompanying picture of a Zulu Beau Brummel shows him with bare legs, but with other articles of apparel or decoration, which in his estimation evidently make up for his lack of covering. For instance, he wears a silk hat and a monocle, carries a cane and smokes a cigarette. He has done his best to carry out the white man's idea of being in style.

THE CLEVELANDS TODAY.

Our Only Living Ex-President and His Wife as Private Citizens.

Former President Grover Cleveland recently declared that under no circumstances whatever would he ever again accept a nomination for the high office he held as chief magistrate of the republic. Though he considers his public career closed, he does not deem that this precludes him from taking an interest in problems of current interest or from expressing his opinions upon the same upon proper occasions. He presided recently at the national conference of charities and corrections in Philadelphia and in his address before this assemblage discussed many subjects that are prominent in the mind of the public. He was also a speaker at the banquet of the Periodical Publishers' association at Atlantic City.

Mr. Cleveland is now in his seventieth year and, as the recent photograph reproduced herewith above, has lost some flesh. Mrs. Cleveland accompanied her husband on his Philadelphia trip and posed for the camera at the same time that he did. Time and grief over the loss of her daughter Ruth have given to her countenance a more serious expression than it had when she was mistress of the White House. The rearing and education of her remaining children closely occupy her attention.

NEW PICTURES OF MR. AND MRS. GROVER CLEVELAND.

Gossip About People of Note

THE new famous senatorial episode in which former Senator William E. Chandler of New Hampshire has figured recalls public attention to a man who for twenty-five years was conspicuous among the notable men at Washington. Mr. Chandler, who is now president of the Spanish treaty claims commission, was one of the first to give practical and thorough study to the problems connected with curbing the power of large corporations, and it was due to his familiarity with such matters that he was called into the case in the consideration of the rate bill. Mr. Chandler was secretary of the navy under Arthur, and he served three terms as senator. He was noted for his advocacy of international bimetalism and of anti-trust legislation. The ex-senator is a confirmed practical joker, and it was in this way he once came near making an enemy of James G. Blaine. Mr. Chandler had been called to the northern part of New Hampshire on law business. The night was stormy, the village tavern was lonely, and the active mind of Mr. Chandler groped around for some form of amusement. Finding nothing better to do, he prepared a practical joke for Mr. Blaine. In a letter to his wife he discussed with great freedom Mr. Blaine's political position and policy, his treatment of certain Republicans and attitude on the federal appointments in New York and expressed his regret that a man of Mr. Blaine's strong character and great intellect should allow himself to be dominated by a woman like Gail Hamilton, in whose judgment Mr. Chandler said he had no confidence. Adding a few words about family affairs, Mr. Chandler signed the letter "Your Affectionate Husband" and put it in an envelope, which he addressed to "James G. Blaine, Secretary of State, Washington, D. C. Personal."

EX-SENATOR W. E. CHANDLER.

Of course his idea was to make Mr. Blaine think he had sent him the wrong letter, and he expected Mr. Blaine to read it and forward it to Mrs. Chandler. But the contrary was the case. Mr. Blaine evidently perceived Mr. Chandler's purpose, for he did not forward the letter to Mrs. Chandler, nor did he communicate with Mr. Chandler in any way for months. His conduct gave Mr. Chandler much concern, and as Mr. Blaine's behavior continued to be cool and distant he decided to have it out with him. Mr. Blaine expressed very freely his opinion of that kind of jokes and never liked Mr. Chandler so well again.

"What's the matter, Jim?" asked a friend.

"Oh," he said wearily, "it's no use. I give it up. Whenever I can see the ball I can't hit it, and whenever I can hit it I can't see it."

Secretary Cortelyou is not much of a talker. He generally is able to dispose of any matter in one short sentence, and he is so silent at the cabinet meetings as anywhere else. At a cabinet meeting one day he devoted four sentences to giving his views on reciprocity with Canada. The president listened in amusement. When Mr. Cortelyou was through Mr. Roosevelt exclaimed: "Why, Cortelyou, your laconicness is positively brutal."

Representative J. Adam Bede made a speech at a recent banquet of piano makers and dealers. In speaking of presidential candidates he referred to Secretary Taft as "the unopposed candidate," which is still reasonably true, although the secretary has been battling for five months.

Senator Isidor Rayner of Maryland, whose speech in the senate on the rate bill was one of the features of the debate upon that measure, succeeded former Senator McCoombs and some years before his entrance to the upper branch of congress was a member of the house of representatives. He achieved a reputation as one of the leading debaters of the house and is already making a similar reputation in the senate. Mr. Rayner first achieved prominence as Schley's counsel during the investigation in 1901 of the rear admiral's conduct in the Spanish war. Born in Baltimore on April 11, 1850, he was educated at the University of Virginia and was admitted to the bar in 1870. In 1871 he married at Baltimore Miss Frances Jade Bevan.

Rayner soon became known in Baltimore as a brilliant lawyer. In 1878 he was elected to the legislature, where the announcement that he would speak always filled the galleries. In 1888 he was elected to congress, being renominated twice without opposition. He declined to serve a fourth time and after having played a conspicuous part during the six years of his service retired in 1892. In 1898 he was elected attorney general of Maryland. He was chosen to the senate in 1904.

In the house Mr. Rayner was noted for his apt retorts. The tariff on glass was under discussion one day. The late Thomas B. Reed asked him what his attitude was as to glass.

"No," replied Rayner. "I was at home preparing a speech of my own."

Reed and Rayner were frequently in some verbal duel.

"Did not the gentleman hear my speech Saturday?" thundered the Maine statesman on one occasion.

"No," replied Rayner. "I was at home preparing a speech of my own."

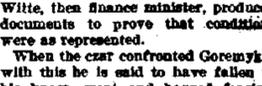

Otto Kelsey, the new superintendent of insurance of New York state, who will be an important factor in carrying out the reforms in insurance laws thought about through the labors of the Armstrong committee, occupied the important post of comptroller of the state of New York prior to his acceptance of his present office. He is a native of Rochester and is in his fifty-fourth year. He received a common school education and became a printer. Later he studied law and in 1875 was admitted to the bar, practicing his profession in Genesee. In 1883 he first entered public life, being elected to represent his county in the legislature. He ran for judge of Livingston county in 1902, but was defeated, became deputy comptroller of the state in 1904 and later in the same year when Comptroller Miller was appointed to the supreme bench, succeeded him in the office. He was chosen as his own successor at the subsequent state election.

OTTO KELSEY.

General James F. Smith, who recently became governor general of the Philippines, but who is now in the United States on a leave of absence, went to Manila when the Spanish war broke out with the first military expedition dispatched there from this country. He participated in the various campaigns and rose to be a brigadier general of volunteers. He was for a time collector of customs at Manila and afterward associate justice of the Philippine supreme court. He is a California, is about forty-seven years of age and quite well. He was once asked what he considered the most crucial moment of his life as a soldier and said:

"Shortly after the occupation of Pedro Macate I discovered a hulking big private carrying off what appeared to be the only pillow in town. I was tired out and covered that pillow, so I sent an orderly to capture it by strategy or force of arms. 'Say, give me that pillow for the general, won't you?' said the orderly.

GOVERNOR GENERAL JAMES F. SMITH.

"The general is banged!" said the private. "This pillow is for my captain and me."

"But you and your captain have full heads of hair, inasmuch as my orderly, and the poor general is as bald as an egg."

"That's all right," said the private. "Give the pillow to Seady Jim, and the captain and I'll sleep on the rocks."

NICHOLAS LONGWORTH.

The president's son-in-law, Representative Nicholas Longworth, is one of the best golf players in congress, and he took a prominent part in a golf symposium in one of the house cloak-rooms a few days ago.

"The most remarkable golfer I ever knew," said he, "was a man in Cincinnati."

"His theory was that there should be a drink served on every tee, and he worked it by means of an army of caddies. One evening he came in and announced that he had renounced the game."

"What's the matter, Jim?" asked a friend.

"Oh," he said wearily, "it's no use. I give it up. Whenever I can see the ball I can't hit it, and whenever I can hit it I can't see it."

Secretary Cortelyou is not much of a talker. He generally is able to dispose of any matter in one short sentence, and he is so silent at the cabinet meetings as anywhere else. At a cabinet meeting one day he devoted four sentences to giving his views on reciprocity with Canada. The president listened in amusement. When Mr. Cortelyou was through Mr. Roosevelt exclaimed: "Why, Cortelyou, your laconicness is positively brutal."

Representative J. Adam Bede made a speech at a recent banquet of piano makers and dealers. In speaking of presidential candidates he referred to Secretary Taft as "the unopposed candidate," which is still reasonably true, although the secretary has been battling for five months.

Senator Isidor Rayner of Maryland, whose speech in the senate on the rate bill was one of the features of the debate upon that measure, succeeded former Senator McCoombs and some years before his entrance to the upper branch of congress was a member of the house of representatives. He achieved a reputation as one of the leading debaters of the house and is already making a similar reputation in the senate. Mr. Rayner first achieved prominence as Schley's counsel during the investigation in 1901 of the rear admiral's conduct in the Spanish war. Born in Baltimore on April 11, 1850, he was educated at the University of Virginia and was admitted to the bar in 1870. In 1871 he married at Baltimore Miss Frances Jade Bevan.

Rayner soon became known in Baltimore as a brilliant lawyer. In 1878 he was elected to the legislature, where the announcement that he would speak always filled the galleries. In 1888 he was elected to congress, being renominated twice without opposition. He declined to serve a fourth time and after having played a conspicuous part during the six years of his service retired in 1892. In 1898 he was elected attorney general of Maryland. He was chosen to the senate in 1904.

In the house Mr. Rayner was noted for his apt retorts. The tariff on glass was under discussion one day. The late Thomas B. Reed asked him what his attitude was as to glass.

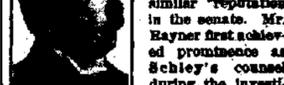

"No," replied Rayner. "I was at home preparing a speech of my own."

Reed and Rayner were frequently in some verbal duel.

"Did not the gentleman hear my speech Saturday?" thundered the Maine statesman on one occasion.

"No," replied Rayner. "I was at home preparing a speech of my own."

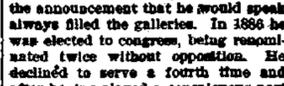

Otto Kelsey, the new superintendent of insurance of New York state, who will be an important factor in carrying out the reforms in insurance laws thought about through the labors of the Armstrong committee, occupied the important post of comptroller of the state of New York prior to his acceptance of his present office. He is a native of Rochester and is in his fifty-fourth year. He received a common school education and became a printer. Later he studied law and in 1875 was admitted to the bar, practicing his profession in Genesee. In 1883 he first entered public life, being elected to represent his county in the legislature. He ran for judge of Livingston county in 1902, but was defeated, became deputy comptroller of the state in 1904 and later in the same year when Comptroller Miller was appointed to the supreme bench, succeeded him in the office. He was chosen as his own successor at the subsequent state election.

OTTO KELSEY.

General James F. Smith, who recently became governor general of the Philippines, but who is now in the United States on a leave of absence, went to Manila when the Spanish war broke out with the first military expedition dispatched there from this country. He participated in the various campaigns and rose to be a brigadier general of volunteers. He was for a time collector of customs at Manila and afterward associate justice of the Philippine supreme court. He is a California, is about forty-seven years of age and quite well. He was once asked what he considered the most crucial moment of his life as a soldier and said:

"Shortly after the occupation of Pedro Macate I discovered a hulking big private carrying off what appeared to be the only pillow in town. I was tired out and covered that pillow, so I

GOVERNOR GENERAL JAMES F. SMITH.