

LEVI PALMER, CIVIL WAR VETERAN, DIES

Another loss to the list of Civil War veterans was sustained yesterday when Levi Palmer, a member of the Seward Crocker Post 37, G. A. R., passed away. Born in Genoa June 11, 1846, Mr. Palmer carried to his grave a scar received when he was wounded in the Battle of the Wilderness, one of the most important conflicts of the Civil War.

He was mustered into national service in 1863 as a private to Capt. Samuel Brady's Company K, 111th Regiment, New York Volunteers with Col. MacDougal commanding.

On May 5, 1864 during the intense fighting at the battle of the Wilderness he received a gunshot wound in his left arm which confined him in the Army Square Hospital at Washington for the summer of 1864. He was later transferred to Company E, 18th Regiment of veterans reserve corps. With the exception of the time he spent recuperating from his wounds, Mr. Palmer participated in many engagements and achieved a gallant record for brave and soldierly conduct.

He had the distinction of being selected as one of the guards who were guarding prisoners suspected of assassinating President Lincoln and who attempted to murder Secretary William H. Seward. There were 76 prisoners in this group among whom were Mrs. Surratt, Dr. Mudd and Arnold who were sentenced to life in prison. He was honorably discharged in Washington July 21, 1865. He is survived by his wife and one son, Lyle G. Palmer of this city. Funeral services will be held from the late home, 37 Mary Street Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Dr. D. B. Thompson of the First Methodist Church will read burial service. Interment will be in Fort Hill where the grave will be located at the grave. The funeral services will be in charge of the G. A. R. post here.

Final Day of Exhibit Draws Many—Addresses Given At Bureau Meeting.

Many members of the Cayuga Farm and Home Bureaus gathered at the Masonic Hall today for the annual meeting of the organization. Mrs. James Morse of Levanna, chairman of the Home Department opened the meeting of the two bureaus with a short address on what that department has accomplished in the past year and the aims and project work that is on the program for the coming season.

John Southard of Ira, chairman of the Farm Department, greeted members of that organization with a few brief remarks on the great assistance that farmers have received from the Farm Bureau through its educational work for the betterment of farm management, better crops, progress made in poultry raising and benefits derived from farmers who own registered stock. Mr. Southard praised L. F. Lee, manager of the Farm Bureau, for his efforts on behalf of the farmers of the county.

Entries in the seed fair were judged last night by Professor Buesell, of the State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, and sweetstake cups were awarded those who entered the best in their particular grain or vegetable seeds.

ribbon was awarded to Charles Huff of Moravia for his roan variety. The buckwheat display contained only two entries, Van Dune Brothers of Auburn, taking the honors. B. R. Smith of Locke was awarded the sweetstake for dent corn and Charles McIntosh a like award for his variety of plant corn.

First honors for the exhibits of Green Mountain potatoes went to D. R. Nettleton of Locke. E. A. Week's entry of Sir Walter Raleigh tubers was an easy winner in this variety of spuds. Mr. Weeks was awarded the sweetstake cup and the blue ribbon. One entry of soy beans by A. M. Koon left him the undisputed winner in this class of cattle feed.

Keen competition was magnified in the Boys' Department, Dana Franklin of King Ferry was awarded sweetstake cup and blue ribbon for his entry of corn, while Horace Avery of Genoa carried away similar honors in the potato class. The cups were presented to the respective winners by Eugene C. Donovan, representing the Auburn Trust Company, donor of the cups. He congratulated the winners on their splendid exhibits.

Bookings at The Jefferson.
The management of The Jefferson announces an attractive array of entertainment features for Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Besides the regular bill of high class Keith vaudeville numbers there will be a motion picture program of variety and breadth. The screen headliner will be the Charles E. Blaney stage success. Only a Shop Girl. Among the players in this throbbing melodrama of a great city are Estelle Taylor, Tully Marshall and Wallace Beary. In addition there will be filmed the final round of the first series of Fighting Blood pictures. The "knockout" will come in this chapter and a hero will see happy fruition of his romance. It promises to be a highly interesting feature.

The vaudeville headliners for the week-end will be the Steppin' Fools, presenting a cyclonic series of twists, turns and whirrs. Here is a quintet of deft dancers headed by Helen Morgan. A routine of dances has been arranged for these steppers by Hal Lana and includes a variety of steps. Three girls and two men do the performing.

Hetty Bynon and William Haig, vaudeville favorites of established fame will offer their highly original conception The Book of Vaudeville. Both performers have been popular in musical comedy. Miss Byron is one of the stage's brightest dancing ingenues, and Mr. Haig, recently with Christie MacDonaid, in a rout of unusual capabilities. There is some pleasing symbolism in this unique offering.

The comedy feature of the new bill will be presented by Welch, Mealy and Montrose, known as Those Surprise Boys. Usually the gymnast takes his profession very seriously. These three, however, burlesque their own calling. The trio excel in what is best known as ground tumbling, their act is as full of fun as it is of falls.

Jim Applegate and Felix Mack will round out a neat program amusement pot pourri of melody and laughter. They label their merry skit All Dressed Up and No Place to Go. The bill balances up as one of the most interesting of the autumn round of the first half of the week, featuring Josie Rooney and her girl jaxxologists in the vaudeville, and Richard Barthelmess in the Fighting Blade as the screen headliner, will be presented tonight for the last time.
