What Coal Costs.

An Anti-Monopolist Has Something to Say on the Subject.

Editor NEWS AND BULLETIN: In an editorial note in last Friday night's NEWS AND BULLETIN you state that there is a little pamphlet in existence headed with the caption "What coal ought to cost," and therein divulge any knowledge of it, and turn-of-the-whole subject as an insurance joke. But to the mass of American people, of whom you and I form a part, it is no joke, but a stupendous fact what it costs us, compared with what its real worth in the mines and in the market.

I have made this and kindred matters, a special study for the last few years, especially since I have had other mouths to feed, backs to clothe, feet to shoe, and bodies to shelter, than my own.

Now what are the rock-bottom facts with regard to the article of indispensable use, viz., coal. The cost of mining and delivering anthracite coal in the city of New York, at the present time, with all the profits included, is approximately as follows: Royalty to land owner, where the land is not owned by the railroad companies from 12 1/2 to 25 cents. But most of the railroad companies own the land, bought at low prices, and practically make the royalty.

Paid to miner per 2,400 lbs., 65 c., yielding when prepared and placed on cars, say 2,000 lbs., or per ton of 2,240 lbs., 68 1/2 c.

Expense of transportation and placing on cars, maintenance of mine, profit of operator, etc., 55c.

Transportation to tide water, say 120 miles at 3-4 c. per ton per mile 50 c. This is rating it sufficient by high, for one-half cent per ton per mile on a large coal traffic will pay.

Lighterage from rail road terminus to New York 22 1/2 c.

Discharging from lighter 14c. All these items make a sum total of $2.65.

Less difference between gross tons (2,240 lbs.) and net ton (2,000 lbs.) 10 per cent, or 26c. on a ton, reduces it to $2.39 add in for the consumer, cartage 30c. Profit of retail dealer 75c. Waste 75c. making a grand total of $3.49.

By varying the terms and distance, the rightful cost can be calculated at any point.

In Auburn the consumer is called upon and obliged to pay 60 per cent above the real value of coal, and this represents the tax paid to monopoly.

The meeting for young men will be held in the rooms of the association, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Topic, "Courage based on Personal Experience" June 9, 24-38. Young men are invited to be present. The service of song was held in the Court House yesterday. It was well attended and interesting.

The Herdic Coach.

The Herdic coach does not seem to "pan out" as was expected. The Erie Dispatch says:

The Herdic coach will soon be remembered as a thing which was, but is not. It was only last summer that an attempt was made to introduce them in Erie. Every one was given a free ride for a week or two and every inducement was held out for months to invest, but it was not to be. In Chicago the Herdic system was given up last week and the coaches withdrawn from the Philadelphia streets, where they have been running for months. Cleveland, too, has almost entirely given them up, and hereafter as though they had never been.

But a system, intermediate between the street cars and the hacks is needed, and the cheap cab system is the only one likely to ever supply the demand for some moderate-priced means of city travel, which shall be more under the control of the passenger than a street car, and less likely to deplete his bank account than a hack. It will take a fortune to organize such a system, but once organized it would be a fortune to the person or company starting it.

What the City Ordinance Provides.—The Awards Made to Mr. Peacock.

The city ordinance bearing on the sale of poor meat is as follows: This V. 98. No person shall sell or expose for sale, at retail, fresh meat or fresh fish without having obtained the previous consent of the mayor, in writing, which shall be filed with the city clerk. No person shall sell or expose for sale any meat, fish, poultry, vegetables or provisions of any kind, which is diseased, or tainted, or otherwise unfit for human consumption, or the flesh of any animal which shall have died from disease or from injuries received by accident. Any person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance, shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined not less than five nor more than twenty dollars, or be imprisoned in the common jail of the county of Cayuga not exceeding fifty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Thomas Peacock of the State street Market states this morning that John Dennis from whom he bought meat mentioned on Saturday as coming from Cortland and sold without a permit, is a man whom he has known for a long time and has always found him a reliable party.

When Dennis came to him with a load of meat, he (Peacock) asked him for his permit, which he showed, and he, thinking it all right, did not even read it. Commissioner Bell also authorizes the statement, that when he stated as a fact what was published on Saturday, that he supposed it was strictly true but now corrects it on this wise:

John Dennis of West Nile took out a permit from the Clerk of the Board of Health, sworn before the Recorder that he brought his beef in Sempronius of David Cortright on Thursday and kept it on his farm until Saturday, when he brought it to this city.

Two more of Mr. Sheldon's cattle died yesterday.

Dr. George Gowland, veterinary surgeon, went out to Senectott this morning, and on his return reported everything doing as well as could be expected.—Two or three additional animals have died on a farm a mile north of Senectott village. He had with him 7 Texan cattle ticks, which are great trouble-makers of the cattle. He has had word from Bodines' farm, 5 or 6 miles out in Oswego, that Apthous Fever had attacked the cattle. This fever is the "foot and mouth" disease, contagious and eruptive, attacking cloven footed animals. Being a blood poison, it renders the flesh unfit for use. One of the consequences is the loss of milk. It is said to be a great deal worse than Texan fever when it once takes hold.

Political Caucuses.

The Latest Legislation on the Subject.

The following law, passed by the last Legislature in June is worthy of attention at this time: It is entitled "An Act to Punish False Swearing at Political Caucuses and Assemblies."

It shall be lawful for the presiding officer of any of the preceding officers of any caucus or assembly held for the purpose, in whole or in part, of selecting a candidate or candidates for office, or a delegate or delegates to a political convention or assembly, to administer to any person offering to vote, by ballot or otherwise, at such caucus or assembly, who shall have been challenged, as oath or affirmation as follows: "You swear (or affirm, as the case may be) that you will true answers make to each question as shall be put to you by the presiding officer, or either of the presiding officers of this caucus or assembly, touching your name and residence and your qualifications as a voter in this district, and whether you have before voted at this caucus or assembly."

Section 2. Any person who shall intentionally make false answer to any question so put to him by the presiding officers of such caucus or assembly, he shall upon conviction be adjudged guilty of perjury, and shall be punished by imprisonment in the State's prison for a term not less than one year nor more than three years.

Section 3. This act shall take effect immediately.

—It is estimated that 18,000 people were under Barnum's Circus tent in Oswego.

—Friday night Barnum's circus was performing at Binghamton two riders were thrown and both seriously injured.

—The thieves and sharpers following the circus generally operate successfully during the procession. Keep your doors and windows locked and use more than ordinary degree of watchfulness.

—Some idea of the amount of provender required by Barnum's animals may be formed from the following contract order to W. C. Gere of Syracuse for Sunday supplies: Seven tons of hay, two and one-half tons of standing timothy and eighty bushels of oats. Five hundred pounds of bran; also 1,200 pounds of hay to be packed on Monday in Jumbo's attendant car, to feed him until he reaches his next destination after leaving Syracuse.

What Mr. Clapp is Doing.

Dividing Up the Best Place—A Park for the Residents.

In the fine improvements now progressing on the premises of E. D. Clapp, the former grounds of the late E. P. Ross, a notable feature will be the park which is to be reserved for beautifying the new location. "Ross Place" is the name chosen for the new avenue this to be opened. It will run south from Genesee street 29 rods for a distance which will give several choice lots each sixteen rods deep, the park being twenty-nine rods in depth. There will be no lots on the east side of this street, which will curve to the westward and will be graded to lots on its north and south sides. The principal lot on Genesee street is west of the north and south line of Ross Place and east of Dell E. Clapp's residence. It is four rods wide by sixteen deep. At its rear are four lots facing east, and four or five others facing south on the east and west angle or continuation of Ross Place, which is from twenty five to thirty rods in length to the south side of this line are seven or eight other lots, facing north, and eight to twelve rods deep. The Ross homestead and former C. N. Ross residence lie to the east, and the rear grounds will form the park. It will be laid out in ornate style, with fine trees and shrubbery, imported and domestic, with walks drives, and the usual attractions of such grounds. From these grounds a view of the best surroundings will add to the pleasure of the location, and the whole will form a beautiful place for cozy and comfortable homes.

The lots are valued at from $800 to $1,500, according to location at which prices they will find a ready sale. There will be several sand lots, from which the sand and gravel will be valuable to the purchaser before grading. Walks will be put down on the east and south sides of the street. The old native oaks will be preserved for the park. A. W. Lawton, the active real estate broker, has charge of the business detail in this connection. He had been looking for two years for some man of enterprise to take advantage of this fine opportunity for building up a handsome neighborhood, and finds that party in the person of Mr. E. D. Clapp. The enterprise will be somewhat on the plan followed by Mr. Lawton in his successful venture at the east end of the city.

Circus Butchers.

How They Work It—Big Skins Made for Their Employers and Themselves—Beating the Country Gallants.

The Rome correspondent of the Utica Observer writes: All those who attended Barnum's show in Rome will remember the "hawkers" of fans and song books and other articles among the crowd. Among the showmen they are called "butchers." A number who attended the show here made purchases of them and complained of receiving short change. One of the hawkers left the show here, and in conversation with the Observer's representative gave an idea of how that business was carried on. He said that they all made a handsome stake every day, and did lots of "knocking down." At Glensville, he made for himself $10, besides turning the amount charged him for the goods he sold. In answer to the inquiry as to how he did it, he said: "We 'hawkers' take from the stand a quantity of stuff that is charged to us and we must return the goods of the equivalent. We go out among the crowd, say with fans and short."

FANS ONLY SERVES APPEAL.

Some one wants a fan and hands out a dust smother with which to pay for it. We take sometimes ten, fifteen, twenty-five and sometimes fifty cents. If they give us a five dollar bill we take out a big "stake," because as a general thing we give them small change, and before they can get it counted we are too far away to fear that they will miss one of the show. The young chap with a girl and we generally "strike him hard," because you see he is in a crowd and with his girl and will not make any "kick" for a few shillings. When a man holds a dime they collar the whole of it and it is not often that a man will get anything but a crowd for a "nickel." Besides they think that perhaps they misunderstand the price, that is why we say "cents" and omit the number of cents. We can usually tell what people to work and for how large an amount.

WOMEN BEATEN RASHLY.

We can "sneeze" the women better than the men, he said, because they won't "kick" for any reasonable amount. We have the advantage in another way too. They are all watching the performance and many will not stop to count their change for fear they will miss one of the show. The "retired" butchers said that once in a great while they run across some one who would not stand a "knock down" and then they would have to give up and apologize for having made a mistake.

The Funeral of Mr. Sunderlin.

The remains of the late James Sunderlin were received at the Central-Hudson depot by the 11:02 A. M. train this forenoon, on their arrival from Newfield, by way of Cayuga Lake. St. Paul's Lodge, F. & A. M., of which Mr. Sunderlin was formerly a member, turned out with Auburn Lodge and a number of representatives of other branches of the Fraternity, to escort the remains to Fort Hill cemetery for interment. The funeral arrangements were in charge of undertaker W. B. Dean. A number of relatives and friends came from Newfield to be present at the ceremonies. Between thirty and forty masons and old Brethren were present.

The remains were taken to Fort Hill immediately upon arrival where interment was made with Masonic honors, the services being conducted by Worshipful Master, A. C. Ham of King Hiram Lodge. The body was laid in the family plot. The escort remained in town, visiting the prison and other points of interest.

The Grand Army's Good Time.

The Grand Army boys at Seneca Falls are to have a good time this evening in honor of the presence in their midst, of Corporal Tanner. There will be an open air meeting among other things at which Corporal Tanner will speak. A number of crumbees are expected to be present from Auburn, Waterloo, Geneva and other adjacent places.

Guard the Bridge.

Attention has recently been drawn by several accidents to the danger of the Central Hudson bridge across the creek. This is daily used as a thoroughfare by hundreds of people. A NEWS AND BULLETIN reporter saw 8 men cross it in the space of four minutes to-day and at noon a perfect crowd of men from the shops use it as a shortcut. The only way to prevent this is by the use of gates by the railroad company. The city authorities should also see that some other path is opened along this much traveled way.

A Drunkard's Will.

"I leave to society a ruined character, a wretched example, and a memory that will soon rot. I leave to my parents during the rest of their lives as much sorrow as humanity in a feeble and declining state can contain. I leave to my brothers and sisters as much mortification and injury as I could bring on them. I leave to my wife a broken heart, a life of wretchedness and shame, to weep over my premature death. I give and bequeath to each of my children poverty, ignorance and low character, and the remembrance that their father was a monster."

As a returning train to New York from Rochester passed Woodstock, the other day, a light-haired young man with a gorgeous suit suddenly sprang up in the middle of the car, saying: "Glorious me! I've left May down there!" "Who is May?" asked a person sitting near. "Why, May is my girl, from Bushwick," the young man gasped, as he rushed for the door.
